

Sektionen för Arkitektur och Industridesign
inom Teknologkåren vid Lunds Tekniska Högskola

POLICY FOR ENVIRONMENTAL WORK

Historic context

This policy will be put forward at the A-guild autumn assembly 2018

Formalities

Purpose and background

To support and encourage environmental work during the everyday work within the A-guild, and by following these guidelines give the opportunity to convey a good picture of the organization. The policy also has the intention of working as a model for students, other guilds and other organizations.

Range

This policy concerns the entire A-guild, including every committee, task force, and associations.

Fundamental principles

Purchases

If economically and practically possible the guilds purchases and investments should take the environment into account. Potential environmental impacts from goods, services that are purchased, as well as the suppliers environmental work should be taken into consideration.

Food

As far as possible ecological, locally produced and seasonal alternatives should be chosen when food is purchased.

Consumables

The guild strives to reduce the usage of disposables by instead using existing goods such as mugs, cutlery and porcelain.

Recycling and waste management

All goods that are used in the activity of the guild should as far as possible be handled in an environmentally responsible way, regardless of the venue. The guild should contribute to a sustainable usage of resources, minimize the amount of waste and strive for a minimal usage of disposables. Correct recycling is to be possible and easily available for the volunteers and members of the guild in all of the guild venues.

Travel and transportation

In all travels that are made by volunteers in connection to work done for the guild, by members of the guild at by the guild arranged activities or in any way are funded by the guild, should the environmental impact be weighed against duration of the trip and monetary cost, so that travels are as environmentally friendly as possible

Communication

The attitude and communication that the guild and particularly the board conveys to the members in environmental questions is of great importance. This should be taken into account and the guilds leadership should act exemplarily for the members. The active members of the guild should be acquainted with the guilds environmental action plan concerning environmental work and environmental targets.

Environmental plan

It is the responsibility of the guild members to follow the environmental action plan of the guild.