POLICY FOR THE GUILD'S HONOURS AND INSIGNIAS

In accordance with the regulations §1.6 the medals are to be viewed as an appreciation for the performed work of the volunteer and therefore no cost shall befall the volunteer. Medals shall work as a reward for performed work and an encouragement for future commitment. Every medal is awarded to a single person only once.

The Ceremony Committee

The Ceremony Committee has the practical responsibility for the medals and awarding of the medals and acts as the A-guild's medal committee. It is the Ceremony Committee's duty:

- to at formal events, at least twice a year, together with the President of the Guild award medals and other honors to the volunteers that have earned them
- to keep a list over the people who have been awarded and shall be awarded honors from the guild
- to after receiving a nomination for the Honorary Medal prepare the election and present the candidate at the next guild assembly

The A-guild's medal system

Representative Medals:

The so-called Representative Medals are awarded volunteers within the guild after the end of their Terms of Office. The medal shall be viewed as an appreciation for the performed work and encourage future commitment. There are three degrees of Representatives:

- Representative of the third degree: Small A-medal

Is awarded to volunteers who have completed one Term of Office. Representatives of the third degree have the right to wear the guild's couleur (see the regulations §1.6.1).

The medal shall consist of the A-guild's official A in silver and black hanging from a purple sash with a thin, black stripe in the middle.

- Representative of the second degree: Silver medal

Is awarded to volunteers who have completed two Terms of Office, though at least three terms. Representatives of the second degree have the right to be nominated for the A-guild's Honorary Medal. Committee chairs or members of the Presidium that haven't earlier been awarded a medal of lower degree are awarded a silver medal after their first Term of office.

The medal shall consist of the A-guild's extensive emblem in silver and black hanging from a purple sash with a thin, black stripe in the middle.

- Representative of the first degree: Gold medal

Is awarded to volunteers who have completed three Terms of Office, though at least 5 terms. Representatives of the first degree have the right to be nominated for the A-guild's Honorary Medal.

The medal shall consist of the A-guild's extensive emblem in gold and black hanging from a purple sash with a thin, black stripe in the middle.

Board medal:

The board medal is handed out to all elected board members or as an equality representative after they have completed their Term of Office. It may be handed out without a completed Term of Office, but at least one semester, if the case is dismissal, vacant chair or elected for a shorter period of time. The judgement of this is handled by the Ceremony Committee together with the A-guild's board.

The medal shall consist of the A-guild official A in purple and gold, with "Styrelsen" written in gold below the A, hanging from a purple sash with a thin, black stripe in the middle.

Rolf-Christina's memorial medal:

The purpose of the Rolf-Christina's memorial medal is to highlight particularly committed members who worked in an exemplary way for the survival of the A guild and put in a lot of work for the guild. In order to receive Rolf-Christina's memorial medal, the nominee must have been a specially elected official, alternatively a student representative, accountant, house elf, Standard-bearer or chairman of the selection committee for at least one Term of Office.

The medal shall consist of Rolf-Christina in gold next to a vine in purple and green and with the text "IN MEMORIAM POPULI CELLARII MCMLXV-MMXVI" written underneath in black, hanging from a ribbon in purple with a thinner, black stripe in the middle.

Skalman's Aspirant:

The purpose with the medal Skalman's Aspirant is to highlight members who have in an admirable way worked for the A-guild, spread joy and encouraged participation among its members.

To acquire a Skalman's Aspirant the nominee must:

- already be a representative of the first or second degree,
- have been an Elected volunteer in the guild at least one term of office at the order chapter,
- have contributed to the spirit of the A-guild,
- have devoted a big commitment to the A-guild.

Procedure at appointment:

- The A-guild's members have the right to nominate any other member that meets the requirements above.
- The Ceremony Committee receives the nomination and presents nominated candidates fulfilling the demands regarding other medals to the A-guild board. At that point it should also be clear that the Ceremony Committee merely is presenting an anonymous nomination.
- The A-guild's board approves or rejects the Ceremony Committee's candidate.
- At the event of approval, the medal is awarded at the Nollegasque or Vårfårfiolsgasque.
- If the person violates the A-guilds regulatory documents, the A-guilds board has the right to withdraw the approval of the medal.

The medal shall consist of Skalman in gold holding the A-guild official A in purple, hanging from a purple sash with a thin, black stripe in the middle.

The A-guild's Honorary Medal:

The purpose of the A-guild's Honorary Medal is to highlight members who have performed efforts in an exceptional fashion that have pushed the A-guild forward and contributed with advantage for its members.

To acquire an Honorary Medal the nominee must:

- already be a representative of the first or second degree,
- have been an elected volunteer with advanced assignment in the guild at least one term of office at the order chapter,

- have acted in the most admirable way,
- Have accomplished great advantages for the A-guild.

Procedure at appointment:

- The A-guild's members have the right to nominate any member that meets the requirements above.
- The Chair of the Ceremony Committee receives the nomination and presents nominated candidates fulfilling the demands regarding other medals to the Guild Board. At that point it should also be clear that the Ceremony Committee merely is presenting an anonymous nomination.
- The Guild Board evaluates if the nomination is sufficiently detailed and well-formulated to support a decision and presents chosen nominations to the autumn assembly.
- The autumn assembly approves or rejects the Guild Boards candidate.
- At the event of approval, the medal is awarded at the Vårfarfiolsgasque or the Jubilee Ball. The medal shall consist of a twelve-pronged cross in purple with edges in silver. Between the arms of the cross are golden rays of sun. In the middle a medallion in silver with the A-guild's official A lined with the text Lucet Sicut Sol – MCMLXV (Shines as the Sun – 1965). Above the cross is an independent wreath of golden magnolias. The medal hangs from a purple sash with a thin, black stripe in the middle. Honorary members acquire an Honorary medal at the designation no matter what parts of these regulations regulate.
- If the person violates the A-guilds regulatory documents, the A-guilds board has the right to withdraw the approval of the medal.

Cordon

The A-guild's cordon shall consist of a purple sash with a thin, black stripe running down the middle in accordance with the regulations §1.6.1. The Executive Committee and The Executive Committee emeriti may wear cordons consisting of a wider, purple sash with a thin, black stripe running down in the middle. The couleur may be worn by all members of the guild. The cordon may only be worn with White tie/tailcoat or used for medals and decoration in official context. With a tailcoat the cordon shall be worn inside the vest and to a gown it shall be worn diagonally from the right shoulder to the left hip (en écharpe) or attached to the chest in a bow on the left side.
